

The FRED Widget

I just added the FRED widget to this site. FRED is the well-known economic database at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis. I've been using their add-on for Excel that lets you easily search for and download data. I meant to install the widget, but only got around to it today. (The widget's output is clearly visible at the top right of this blog.)